

Webinar Terms and Conditions

- 1. Your booking - To register you must complete the registration. You will receive a confirmation upon completing the registration process, if you have not received your booking confirmation within 48 hours, please contact marketing@operosehealth.co.uk
- 2. Acceptance of Terms - By registering online you have agreed to accept these terms. A contract will exist as soon as your registration is confirmed.
- 3. Recorded Content - By participating in a webinar that is being recorded, you grant a non-exclusive license to the webinar organizer to reproduce, modify, adapt, and publish the Content
- 4. Content - The views expressed by the external speakers in this meeting are solely those of the speakers concerned and they do not represent the official views or opinions of Operose Health.
- 5. Discretion as to attendance — Operose Health reserves the right to refuse an Attendee's admission to the Event, acting at its sole discretion.
- 6. Data Protection – Operose Health is a registered data controller and may collect personally identifiable information relating to you, a delegate, (including your name; employer's name and address; telephone number; email address; and similar). Such information may be collected when you register online or communicate with us by email. You agree and consent to us using all such personal information received by us and to it being processed, as necessary. This includes processing by us, by the webinar provider, and relevant third parties, for the purpose of administration, statistical analysis, marketing, customer service and feedback, as relevant. Your information may be used to send you relevant marketing and informational material on our products and services. You may ask us to send you a copy of your information being held by us at any time and ask us to remove the same or update/correct it. If you do not wish to receive information about our products and services, then please contact us at: hello@operosehealth.co.uk